

Marine Policy Officer - WWF Scotland
(Fixed term 12 months with possible extension)

This is a key role in delivering WWF's marine work in Scotland. Given the significance of the Scottish fishing fleet, a large part of this work will focus on working with Scottish fisheries stakeholders to help deliver sustainable fisheries management. This post is a key member of the WWF Scotland team but also contributes to the WWF-UK marine team and will work with UK and European colleagues to deliver WWF's UK, European and International sustainable fisheries goals and contribute to WWF work on the reform of the Common Fisheries Policy. The post holder will also have responsibility for managing wider marine issues within the Scottish team and working with colleagues both in Scotland and the UK to support effective implementation of the Scottish and UK Marine Acts.

You must have substantial experience of working on marine issues. A sound understanding of fisheries policy is essential, preferably with a knowledge of the Scottish industry.

A proven team player, you must have commitment, drive and a solutions-orientated approach to your work. A commitment to and support for WWF's mission is essential.

Salary: £26,509-£28,166

Location: Dunkeld

Contract type: Full time/Fixed term (12 months with possible extension)

Closing date: 9.00am Monday 23rd August

Interviews: Tuesday 31st August (Dunkeld)

For more information about this opportunity, visit our website at www.wwfscotland.org.uk/jobs